

This article was originally published here

By Peter Weddle — More and more Americans are working more and more hours. Some believe they must put in the extra time in order to hang onto their jobs, while others think that spending lots of time in the office or on the road is the key to career success. Sadly, the former are probably right employers are squeezing the life out of the work-life balance in order to meet Wall Streets profit expectations...